Fund objective

The Solidum ELS Fund is an open-end fund registered in Bermuda. The Fund's objective is to achieve long term capital appreciation and low correlation to fixed income, equity and non-traditional investments. The Fund holds a diversified portfolio of insurance linked securities which can have the structural format of catastrophe bonds, notes and derivatives, industry loss warranties, sidecars, reinsurance contracts or other instruments transferring insurance event risk or genuine insurance underwriting risk. As the insurance event linked securities market evolves, new products may become available and the Fund may also invest in such products. The portfolio is actively managed in an attempt to achieve optimal returns in the context of the prevailing market environment. Leverage can be used in order to enhance investment returns, and active hedging may be employed to minimize downside risk. In addition to its functional currency USD, the Fund offers CHF, EUR and GBP share classes. The equity capital of the non-USD share classes is hedged to reduce FX effects.

Manager comment

The Fund started the new year promisingly, achieving between 108 and 110 basis points in the two institutional classes.

With the exception of winter storm "Fern", it was a relatively quiet month in terms of events. Mid-month, winter storm "Fern" affected large areas of the United States, from Texas to Maine. While bitter cold and heavy snowfall can occur every year in the North and Northeast of the United States, this time it was unusually cold in the South as well. As almost always, the media hype—some commentators called it the "Storm of the Century"—was inversely proportional to the actual damage in the real world. Of course, the event caused insured losses to houses, cars, and infrastructure, as well as power outages, which could lead to subsequent damages such as burst water pipes, particularly in the Southeast, which is less well prepared for harsh winter conditions. However, these damages are significantly lower than those of winter storm "Uri" (2021), one of the most severe winter storms of the last years, and are likely to amount to a few billion dollars. The positions in the portfolio are therefore not affected.
